

Antilla Armchair B-9850

The Antilla family is a globally known collection of furniture in a classic style, characterised by a rung construction of the backrest. Iconic features include the inter-connectivity of the backrest top with the seat and the characteristic "H" leg connection.

The Antilla's popularity is owed to its universal character; hundreds of implementations around the world show that designers are eager to place this chair in offices as well as restaurant interiors, gardens, bars and public facilities.
