

BALÙ MET

The deep, rounded seat encourages relaxation and conversation. The perfectly balanced volume of the body matches impeccably with the characteristic support frame, thus redefining the typical "tub" chair. The internal plywood body and the polyurethane and Dacron upholstery, flanked by a beech frame, provide excellent comfort. Balù comes in many colour variations and neutral or tone-on-tone shades, in line with the collection colours. Balù is a reassuring presence and a perfect addition to an imposing dining area with a keen eye for design. This versatile seat can be used in any space, such as meeting rooms, small conference rooms and reading rooms, as well as domestic environments such as living rooms, study areas and bedrooms, which require performance combined with comfort and a strong personality. The Balù chairs, available in a variety of finishes and upholsteries, may be freely combined together, both at home and in public areas.
