

Circa Modular Lounge

The Circa Modular Lounge is a flexible modular seating system defined by soft curves and adaptable configurations. Designed for residential and commercial interiors, Circa allows modules to be arranged in linear, curved, or circular layouts, making it ideal for lounges, hotels, workplaces, airports, and public spaces. The continuous form supports relaxed seating while maintaining a clean architectural presence, with deep cushioning and a low, sculpted profile that balances comfort and structure. Circa works well in open-plan environments where zoning and flow matter, and its modular construction allows layouts to change over time as needs evolve. Available in a wide range of commercial-grade upholstery options, the Circa Modular Lounge suits high-use settings while offering designers the freedom to define space through form, colour, and scale.
