A Modular Concept Rooted in Cohesion

With six modular elements, from flowing seating to integrated planters and bins, Pelago invites endless combinations without ever compromising on aesthetic cohesion. Double-curved bent plywood gives the pieces a fluid, sculptural form, while the absence of visible screws and bolts emphasizes visual calm.

The entire concept is designed to scale, from creating cozy seating nooks to anchoring grand layouts, all while maintaining a timeless design language. An optional acoustic element, a reindeer moss ceiling, further immerses visitors in nature-inspired tranquility.

Built for Change. Designed to Endure.

True to Green Furniture Concept's values, Pelago is built for longevity and low environmental impact. It features recycled aluminum, plastics reclaimed from fishing nets, and wood treated with VOC-free finishes. Every element is modular, replaceable, and maintainable, ensuring the product ages gracefully and adapts to changing needs.

Sustainability isn't part of the design—it is the design. Every decision was shaped by circular design principles, resulting in a concept built to last, adapt, and endure with a 15-year warranty and a timeless role in shaping public spaces for the future.
